

The Coconut Tree

Debbie Friedlander

*Don't stand under a coconut
Don't stand under a coconut
Don't stand under a coconut
Because a coconut may fall on your head.*

When you go away for a holiday
On the sunny southern beaches in the island way
Where the wind is balmy
And the sea is green
Don't ever stand under a coconut tree.

*Don't stand under a coconut
Don't stand under a coconut
Don't stand under a coconut
Because a coconut may fall on your head.*

Well I saw it happen
With my very own eyes
An innocent man had a big surprise.
He was watching the sunset
All pink and red
When a big green nut
Fell on his head.

Don't stand under a coconut
Don't stand under a coconut
Don't stand under a coconut
Because a coconut may fall on your head.

So many things happen every day
Some you can count on; others no way!
When you live your life
You take a chance
So, don't stand under a coconut branch.
